

Traffic Safety Program Given By Governor

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney today asked the legislature for several new and stricter laws aimed at reducing traffic deaths, and asked highway funds for a state police freeway patrol.

In a special message on traffic safety, Romney asked $1.3 million be appropriated as a "highway purpose" from motor vehicle taxes to finance a 130-troop freeway patrol.

More State Police
He also asked the legislature: —To help strengthen state police by approving a general fund appropriation of nearly $16 million, providing an authorized strength of 1,339 state policemen. Manpower is expected to reach 1,220 by July.

—Reaction of the Traffic Safety Center at Michigan State University, a $250,000 site.
—To bring juvenile offenders under the "point system" under which an accumulation of moving violations results in driver license suspensions.

—To prohibit "drag racing" and speed contests on public highways.

—To study the idea of periodic motor vehicle inspection through a system of locally owned service stations and garages.

—To provide $100,000 to Michigan State University for a regional police training program for peace officers of local governments.

—To increase by $24,000 the appropriation for the State Safety Commission.

Record "Shocking"
Romney also recommended stricter enforcement of existing laws governing motorists.

His bid for highway funds had been foreseen by Highway Commissioner John Mackie, who warned Tuesday of a "raid" on motorists' highway taxes "to buy more state police."

Romney's "state of the state" message a week ago called the 1963 state traffic death toll of 1,859 "shameful and shocking" but did not spell out his specific legislative requests.

Independent of the Romney message, two bills to set up mandatory safety inspection of all cars, at motorists' expense, were on file for introduction today.

One of these, sponsored by Sens. Charles Youngblood, D-Detroit, and Haskell Nichols, R-Jackson, would authorize State Police to designate inspection stations to issue stickers.

Under this bill, any uniformed peace officer could stop a car to see if it meets safety standards. If not, the owner would have five days to get an inspection sticker and avoid arrest.

The second bill, sponsored by Youngblood, duplicates parts of the bipartisan bill but has a 15-day warning period and sets a $1.50 maximum on the cost of inspection certificates to motorists.

Youngblood's bill would give the State Police discretion over how often cars must be inspected, but the bipartisan bill calls for semi-annual inspections.

President Asks Spending Cut On Missiles, Ships

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is asking Congress to cut spending on missiles and ships by more than a billion dollars and to increase spending on planes by $300 million.

This was revealed Wednesday when the Defense Department sent Congress its authorization request for the 1965 fiscal year. The request included $10.6 billion for procurement of missiles, ships and planes. Last year, Congress appropriated $11.4 billion for procurement.

Kennedy Will Try To Cool Malayan Crisis

TOKYO (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy arrived in Tokyo today for talks with President Sukarno of Indonesia in an effort to cool Indonesia's hostility toward the new Federation of Malaya.

The late president's brother arrived by Air Force jet with his wife, Ethel. It is his first assignment by President Johnson as a diplomatic troubleshooter.

Kennedy said he is counting on a "bond of friendship between the United States and Indonesia" to help ease the dispute. He meets with Sukarno Friday.

The 38-year-old attorney general added, however, that the Malaysian crisis is "best decided, resolved, determined by Asian countries, not by ourselves."

Kennedy met Sukarno in 1962 on a Far Eastern tour for his brother. Although Sukarno has been openly critical of the United States, he is said to respect Kennedy's honesty and ability.

Kennedy's personal efforts in the Malaysian dispute will take him around the world to meet with all the principals. Monday, he flies to Manila to confer with President Diosdado Macapagal of the Philippines. He is also expected to talk with Malaysian Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman in Kuala Lumpur and British Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home in London.

Under British sponsorship, the British territories of Malaya, Singapore, Sabah (British North Borneo) and Sarawak formed the Federation of Malaysia last September. From the start, it was opposed by the Philippines, which claims Sabah, and Indonesia, which occupies the rest of Borneo.

Sukarno, by far the more militant opponent, vowed to crush Malaysia, calling it an instrument of British neo-imperialism. Philippine opposition to Malaysia has been milder.

Writers Leave Kennedy Team At White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The top-level White House team put together by John F. Kennedy is expected to remain on the job, relatively intact, at least through the November election.

But there has been a break. The resignation Wednesday, effective Feb. 29, of special counsel Theodore C. Sorensen. And a second break could come in a few weeks if Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., the historian turned presidential assistant, decides to return to private life.

Has Book To Write
An intimate of the late president said that with the possible exception of Schlesinger he felt certain the Kennedy staff would continue to serve President Johnson.

Sorensen wrote Johnson that he was quitting "to devote the next several months to writing a book about the late president and my 11 years of service with him."

There was no indication that Sorensen, one of Kennedy's chief aides, had experienced any disenchantment with Johnson. And, he told a news conference Wednesday, he hoped his move "would not encourage others to follow suit."

Sorensen said "I feel that I have a book to write." And he added that if it wasn't written now, it might never be written. He said he would try to portray Kennedy both as an individual and as president.

Historian Going
In a sense, it seemed that Sorensen felt an obligation to write the Kennedy story as a stand-in for the slain chief executive. He said he never had planned to write a Kennedy book but that he and the late president had talked several times about the book Kennedy would have written after leaving office.

Schlesinger, historian of the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration, is expected to follow Sorensen through the White House door—although Johnson repeatedly has urged him and other Kennedy aides to remain.

The former Harvard professor has emphasized his belief that every president should be surrounded by assistants of his own choosing. And he obviously does not think that Johnson, left to his own designs, would have chosen him for the White House staff.

Collision Kills Two Near Flint; Three Injured

FLINT (AP) — Two persons died and three others were seriously injured early today as a result of a two-car, head-on collision on Flushing Road about two miles west of Flint.

Dead on arrival at a Flint hospital was Neil L. Gilbert, 37, of Birch Run, the driver of one of the autos. The second victim, Mary Balongie, 14, of Flint, died a little more than three hours later at a local hospital.

Injured were the dead girl's sister, Shirley, 15, of Flint; Larry Barnyia, 22, of Mount Morris, and Daniel Thibeault, 21, of Flint. All were riding in the car which collided with the auto driven by Gilbert.

Plane Dive Kills 3 Near Memphis

MEMPHIS (AP) — Three young rug industry executives were killed when a twin-engine Cessna 441 dive into a vacant field near thickly populated suburbs south of here Wednesday.

Victims were the pilot, Jerome Kraut, 36, of Northridge, a Los Angeles suburb; Robert L. Fisher, 36, of Los Angeles; and James R. Drohan, 29, of Skokie, Ill., a Chicago suburb.

Cause of the crash hasn't been determined.

Republicans Stack Up Favorite Son Aspirants

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans are stacking up a near-record crop of favorite son aspirants who might sew up as many as 350 votes in early convention presidential nomination balloting.

If all eight presently discussed home-state candidacies materialize, such active seekers of the nomination as Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller could find themselves substantially short of the necessary 655 votes when the San Francisco convention opens July 13.

A sweep in the presidential primaries could alter this situation by collapsing some of the favorite son movements.

For practical purposes, however, the number of primaries influencing delegate votes where contests are likely has been reduced to 10, with a total of 299 convention votes. These include New Hampshire, Maryland, District of Columbia, West Virginia, Florida, Indiana, Illinois, South Dakota, Oregon and California.

Michigan For Romney
Wisconsin, Ohio and Pennsylvania have been eliminated from the primary lists by favorite son arrangements. Wisconsin Republicans plan to give their 30 votes to Rep. John W. Byrne, Ohio's 58 will go to Gov. James A. Rhodes, and Pennsylvania's 64 to Gov. William W. Scranton. Michigan, without a primary, will cast its 48 votes for Gov. George Romney.

Scranton, who is looked upon by many as a potential major candidate, got a hint Wednesday that he might become an early ballot beneficiary of New Jersey's 40 convention votes. That state has a primary, but major contenders may avoid it.

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., the state's top Republican office holder, listed Scranton as a "very attractive possibility" for the nomination. He said the governor is "very hot at the moment."

New Health Care Plan For Aged Up In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six Republican senators offered legislation today to provide a public-private health care plan for the aged that they described as the most comprehensive yet presented to Congress.

One part would provide 45 days of hospital care, up to 180 days of skilled nursing home care, or more than 200 days of home health care following treatment in a hospital for all persons 65 or over.

This would be financed by an increase of 1/2 to 1 per cent in the Social Security pay roll tax to be deposited in a separate health fund.

The other part of the program would create a national, federally chartered association of private insurance and group service companies which would authorize a standard medical-surgical policy for those over 65.

By enabling private insurance firms to pool their risks, a standard policy could be made available at a cost of about $2 a week, sponsors estimated.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., chief spokesman for the sponsors of the measure, called it

Bill Approved To Aid Fisheries

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Banking Committee approved Wednesday a senate-passed bill aimed at helping Great Lakes fisheries. It would make available small business disaster loans at 3 per cent interest.

The industry was hurt last fall by reports that contaminated smoked white fish caused seven deaths.

Foreign ministers of the nations were to meet today to put the conference resolution in final form. The Arab league's military and financial committees also meet today to discuss the new command.

A final summit session to approve the resolution was expected tonight.

Though the spokesman said Arab leaders had agreed on a "positive solution" of the problem raised by Israel's irrigation project, it still was generally doubted they anticipate war with Israel soon.

The spokesman would give no details of the new command and declined to say whether all Arab states would participate.

The spokesman said the House would not comment Wednesday on rising published speculation that he definitely will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination in Ohio's May 5 primary. He said, however, he would issue a statement this morning through the Manned Spacecraft Center, probably from public affairs officer Paul Haney.

In Washington, a source close to the situation confirmed the validity of the report that Glenn would challenge incumbent Sen. Stephen M. Young of Cleveland for the nomination.

Glenn would not say if he planned a trip to Columbus to personally announce his candidacy today.

"Someone has done some surmising on their own," was the only comment from the 42-year-old astronaut.

No injuries were reported.

Panama Chief Ready To Break Off Relations

PANAMA (AP)—The Panama Canal Zone reverted to American civilian rule today from temporary military control even as Panama pressed the United States to agree to negotiate a new treaty.

Gen. Andrew P. O'Meara, commanding general of the U.S. Army Southern Command, returned the zone to the direction of Gov. Robert J. Fleming Jr.

O'Meara had taken over responsibility for law and order and administrative functions last Friday at the height of the violence that left four U.S. soldiers and 19 Panamanians dead.

President Roberto Chiari told newsmen that despite Wednesday's agreement to resume diplomatic relations as quickly as possible, he is going ahead with a complete rupture unless Washington agrees to negotiate a new pact.

Chiari said he would call the rest of his diplomatic personnel home from Washington and ask the U.S. government to withdraw its staff from Panama City. He said Costa Rica would represent Panama in Washington. But he set no time schedule for the withdrawals.

Officials Hopeful
Chiari broke relations last Friday, during violence along the Canal Zone border that cost the lives of 21 Panamanians and 4 U.S. soldiers. So far he has recalled only Ambassador Augusto Arango from Washington, and the two governments talked steadily together until they reached the agreement Wednesday under auspices of the Organization of the American States.

In Washington, the U.S. government insisted it had not agreed to negotiate a new treaty, only to discuss all issues between the two countries once diplomatic relations are resumed. There was no indication that the United States would bow to Chiari's demand.

Officials in Washington were concerned over the situation but said they had no notification from Panama of intention to make a complete break. U.S. officials still hoped that the agreement for resumption of relations and talks would hold up.

Army Moves In
Pressure on Chiari was mounting as a wave of nationalist fervor with extreme-left trimmings swept the country. From all sides—civil and professional groups, labor unions, students, some of the clergy and the man in the street—came demands for a new treaty providing for ultimate nationalization of the canal rather than the perpetual control the United States has under the 1903 treaty.

President Johnson was under opposite pressure from Congress to stand fast. The White House has said it would not yield basic American rights in the Canal Zone.

In Panama, new violence appeared to threaten, and the U.S. Army moved small units up to the Canal Zone border.

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the face of a new surge of popular unrest in Panama and an indicated hardening of the Panamanian government's stand on U.S. relations, the Army today turned back control of the Panama Canal Zone to civilian authorities.

Sea Hunt Cost Over 1.5 Million

HONOLULU (AP)—A week-long search for a missing Air Force cargo plane, its crew of eight and one passenger, cost more than $1.5 million, military officials estimated today.

The plane disappeared in the mid-Pacific during a 2,300-mile flight from Wake Island to Honolulu Jan. 1. No sign was found of the C124 Globemaster or the persons aboard.

Factory Burns At Grand Haven

GRAND HAVEN (AP)—Fire apparently starting with an overheated electric press in an assembly room today destroyed Plywood Component Corp. in nearby Grand Haven Township.

Howard Bowen, president and general manager, estimated losses at $75,000 to $100,000.

The plant employed 12 in the manufacture of laminated beams and structural wood building parts.

Approximately 35 firemen from the township, Grand Haven and neighboring Norton Township battled the blaze discovered by a sheriff's deputy on routine patrol.

No injuries were reported.

Astronaut May Run For Senate

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — World-famous astronaut John Glenn Jr. may reveal today if he plans to leave the space venture to run for U.S. senator from Ohio.

Glenn would not comment Wednesday on rising published speculation that he definitely will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination in Ohio's May 5 primary. He said, however, he would issue a statement this morning through the Manned Spacecraft Center, probably from public affairs officer Paul Haney.

In Washington, a source close to the situation confirmed the validity of the report that Glenn would challenge incumbent Sen. Stephen M. Young of Cleveland for the nomination.

More State Aid For Schools In U.P. Predicted

Increased state assistance to local school districts next year was predicted by Kai Erickson, Michigan Education Association consultant to 40 finance committee chairmen of local MEA units of Region 17 at Marquette Tuesday night.

"The state has borne less of its share of educating Michigan children each year for the last 10 years and this trend will probably be arrested this year," Erickson said. "Less wealthy districts and those which are receiving high levels of community support are most likely to benefit. This means the majority of U. P. school districts would gain."

The following issues were described as current and pressing in state education by Erickson:

- 1.—Wide variations of school district wealth. For example, Escanaba has nearly twice the tax wealth per child of nearby Gladstone.
- 2.—Property valuations vary widely between school districts, making it difficult to get a true picture of community wealth.
- 3.—Community values of education differ widely. The state median local tax effort for operation of a school district is 12.79 mills. In Iron Mountain the community support figure is 13.50 mills, Marquette 18.27 mills, and Menominee only 8.75 mills.
- 4.—A large number of small, poor, and inefficient high school districts in the Upper Peninsula should be reorganized to provide a higher level of education. Equal educational opportunity is far from a reality in Michigan, Erickson stated. "A visit to the Perkins, Michigamme, Gwinn and Escanaba school districts would quickly reveal the educational inequities in existence at the present time. Why parents are not more concerned about the facilities available for their children is a serious question."
- 5.—School districts with low tax valuations and high community support can qualify for hardship aid which brings additional monies to the local schools on a matching principle. Chatham, Trenary, Gladstone, Channing and Ishpeming township schools are examples of schools which have qualified for special assistance. Since most U. P. school districts are less wealthy than the state average, it is to their advantage to raise their community support efforts to qualify for this aid.
- 6.—Median figures for state-wide beginning and maximum salaries of teachers holding bachelor's degrees are currently $4,895 and $7,522 respectively. Teachers' salaries are still quite low in relation to other occupations requiring four and five years of college preparation.
- 7.—More and more school districts are competing for better teachers as communities become aware of the importance of a top quality local school system. Parents, businessmen and others are becoming increasingly aware that good schools are essential to the economic future of their children and the economic prosperity of their communities.

Overall Agency For Child Care Urged In State

Donald T. Anderson, for 12 years probate judge of Kalamazoo County, told the Escanaba Woman's Club and the Escanaba League of Women Voters Wednesday night what the Children's Charter of the Juvenile Courts of Michigan thinks is needed to care for Michigan's children in trouble.

Anderson was introduced by Mrs. N. L. Lindquist of the League of Women Voters in a program at which Mrs. Jean Paul Cote, president of the Woman's Club, presided.

"Basically the state's child care problem is this," said Anderson, "there is no agency now to do complete planning on either a local or state level for the problems of the child. It's agency planning instead of problem planning. The basic approach of each agency is 'How can our agency serve our interest in the child?' The consideration is not 'How may the children's problems be solved on an overall basis?'"

Statewide Problem

"We have observed this problem all over Michigan. The competition for funds relates to agencies and not to solving the problems. We think that both in the public and private giving that we must start to think of priorities and perhaps a reallocation of some of these funds."

"Children's Charter was organized by the juvenile judges of Michigan for two basic purposes:

- "1. Improvement of our juvenile courts.
- "2. Encouragement of the development of programs of protective services for children."

"At the present time no agency has an obligation to see that the community resources are mobilized to solve the problems of the individual youngster in trouble."

"In scarcely any community in Michigan can you go to one place with the expectation that this agency will stick with the problem, utilizing all of the agencies of the community co-operatively, until the child's problem is solved. Rather, the situation is that each agency will do what it can in its own particularly sphere and then close out the case without seeing it solved."

Court Change

"In the courts we're interested in a better structure of social services under the new Michigan Constitution. It sets up one court of justice with various divisions, supreme, intermediate appellate, circuit and probate. Instead of separate courts we now have divisions of one court."

"The staffing structure of the courts is helter-skelter. In the probate court we have staffing by appointment by the judge, appointment by the governor, and in some cases furnishing of staff by the Welfare Department."

Method Secondary

"In programs for children we (Children's Charter) don't care what method is used if it fits community needs. In some places they have developed it around the probate court, because it's the juvenile court. In some counties it's operated out of the welfare department. While recognizing that it's working in various ways, we advocate that it should be through the State Welfare Department."

"However, that should not prevent any agency, public or private from doing the job in any place where it can set up to do it. But I'm sure that if they're going to do it on a statewide basis, it's going to take time and staff to develop it. And if it's going to be a statewide program we can't see how it can be done unless the State Welfare Department does it."

"We are sponsoring legislation which would authorize the State Welfare Department to do it. They are already giving funds for dependent children and poor young. Shortly they'll be administering Aid to Dependent Children of the Unemployed."

"They are also involved in various licensing and inspection duties for children's agencies in Michigan. But they need more authority to rehabilitate families so they won't always be in trouble."

"We feel that until such time as we have some agency which will assume a responsibility for mobilizing all the services for children, that little can be done along this line."

Course To Aid Smokers To Quit

The Five Day Plan to quit smoking will come to the Upper Peninsula Feb. 2-6 at Escanaba in the Delta County Building. The five - evening group therapy course will be offered free for all who wish to quit smoking.

Already reported successfully held in more than 100 cities across the United States and Canada, the Five Day Plan consists of lectures, films and a personal control booklet given to each participant. It features such topics as the physical and psychological aspects of the smoking habit, how the craving can be lessened, how the will power can be strengthened, and the organization of a buddy system designed to help break the habit within a five-day period.

Although the Five Day Plan is conducted by a doctor-minister team, it is not a religious project. It is designed for smokers who wish to become non-smokers and is brought to this community as a public service by the local Seventh-day Adventist Church and the Delta County Cancer Society. Dog Owners Are Warned

Police Chief Harold Finman today reminded dog owners that the city ordinance which prohibits letting dogs run loose is being strictly enforced and that owners of the pets must abide by it or chances are their animal will be picked up.

Finman said that the ordinance clearly states that all dogs must be confined during the 12 months of the year, not just during the summer months.

If dogs are taken out by their owners they must be under reasonable control at all times.

The warning came from the police chief as the result of a number of complaints about animals running loose and several reports of children being bitten by the canines.

Remind Voters To Mail Card

Voters in the City of Escanaba were reminded today that the deadline for returning their registration notices to the city clerk's office is Friday.

Don Guindon, city clerk, said that his office had mailed out 861 of the cards to persons who have not voted within the past two years for re-registration, but that only 185 of the cards had been returned to his office.

He pointed out that anyone not returning the card, nor notifying his office, might also forget to re-register later and therefore be disqualified to vote this year. "Inasmuch as this is the year of a presidential election I don't think the voters would want this to happen," said Guindon.

Failure to return the cards means that the bearers name will be placed in a "dead" file and his name removed from the voting list.

MARQUETTE (AP) — Progress in the program for new economic development of Michigan's Upper Peninsula was reported today by the co-chairmen of Operation Action-UP.

Coincident with the Operation Action report was the organization at Sault Ste. Marie Wednesday night of an industrial development commission intended to give the UP a further spur for the future.

A businessmen's group headed by Howard McDonald, a general contractor, as executive coordinator, was established in line with an industrial consultant's recommendations.

The recommendations came from Ted Dolman Associates of Livonia, engaged last summer to survey the Soo's industrial potentials.

Also named to the industrial commission were Dr. Kenneth Shoultice, administrator of Soo Memorial Hospital, promotion executive; auto dealer Ted Caffeen, finance executive;

Our Changing Frontier

In 1893 historian Frederick Jackson Turner announced that there was no more frontier in the United States and in 1930 the last claim in continental United States was filed under the Homestead Act.

There's still a place for frontiersmen in the modern world. There are homesteaders in Alaska, and Brazil is looking for settlers to open her vast interior, but in the continental United States pioneering is over.

This is of special interest to an area like the Upper Peninsula, which has the distinction of having been the first part of the Midwest opened by white men and the last to be intensely developed. A quirk of geography has made the Upper Peninsula a frontier in a special and unusually durable way and while this odd situation has been mourned by some Upper Peninsulans because it has cost the area the larger populations and intensive developments which have occurred elsewhere to the south, it has also given the area a character that may, in the perspective of history, be its fortune.

The Upper Peninsula is, for more than 300 miles, the northern perimeter of the nation. This would not be the enormous influence that it is on this border area were it not that Lake Superior lies beyond, the world's greatest fresh water resource, and that beyond the lake there is a Canadian wilderness almost devoid of population. Beyond is Russia.

There is no dead-end anywhere in the United States comparable to Michigan's littoral on Superior. The pass-through traffic which has made so many other areas of the United States with fewer resources both populous and rich is entirely lacking in the Upper Peninsula. It is the end of the line unless you are going to Canada or Russia on a route on which you plan to build your own highway.

This situation, while it is a prime product of geography and while geography doesn't change, will change. It is already beginning to change noticeably. The strongest immediate influence for change is the development of Canada. While poky, it is progressing, and there has been a sizeable buildup of Canadian traffic through the Upper Peninsula, moving between populous lower Ontario and the eastern provinces and the western provinces.

There is now a Superior north shore route in Canada, but many Canadians prefer to loop Superior to the south and for others it is a shorter route.

A populous, developed Canada could influence the Upper Peninsula's development as much, and perhaps more, than the development to the south of the U.P. in the United States. There the process has been underway a long time and it has tended to draw population away from the periphery of the nation into dense population belts like that stretching from Chicago through Detroit and Toledo to Cleveland.

The marked difference in use of the Upper Peninsula and use of the Lower Peninsula of Michigan has usually been equated with progress for the Lower Peninsula and retardation for the U.P., but the keeping of the U.P. in so much of its pristine, natural beauty has given it a charm and value which has fled much of the Lower Peninsula under the grinding of industrial progress, so-called.

This process has produced a paradox. Where the means of industrial era livelihood are most abundant, the pleasures of living are most meager. This situation gives values to the Upper Peninsula as a place to live which are increasingly precious in a populous, affluent, industrialized nation.

So the last frontier here, while preserved by a happenstance of geography and economics, keeps some values that are appreciating. At the same time it keeps the great natural resources which have always been the base of its economy, feeding by extractive industries the great mills in the population belts to the south.

Congress Impotent

The 88th Congress, having met in initial session for the full 12 months of 1963, will surely go down in history as one of the most steadily maligned since the U.S. Constitution was adopted.

There is no need to review again the major charges that Congress is out of date, inefficient, deliberately obstructive, bereft of effective leadership, saddled with burdens that have nothing to do with responsible law-making.

The necessity for reform is obvious. But the realists who look at Congress today say flatly that significant reform will never take place unless the entrenched "power structure" in both houses is somehow altered or dislodged.

Since this structure draws its strength from the 53-year-old seniority system, itself now deeply embedded in the ways of Congress, few see much genuine hope for improvement.

From time to time key members of the power establishment may have particular reasons for using their powers to block the course of pending legislation. Right now, for example, some are being accused of conducting a "submerged" filibuster against the late President Kennedy's civil rights proposals.

However this may be, there appears a longer-range reason for what the critics of Congress see as stubborn obstructionism.

The lawmakers, from World War II through the Korean war to the cold war, have been increasingly frustrated at their narrowing role in the making of important American policy.

The Constitution gives to the President prime authority in the framing of foreign policy. And it is in this arena, and related military affairs, that most action has occurred in the last two and a half decades.

The annoyance of the lawmakers is perhaps understandable. It is magnified for them by the fact that they find it harder and harder to keep abreast of the intricacies of foreign and military questions. They cannot acquire the information which comes readily to the hand of the President and the Executive Branch.

In this dilemma, the lawmakers sometimes have sought actually to invade the President's area of power. More often they have tried simply to thwart him by a variety of devices.

The great irony in this is that the tactics employed have served most of the time only to damage further the usefulness of Congress in the government process.

The grave question for those key lawmakers who practice these tactics is how long this immense and fast-growing nation will allow any major role at all to a body which makes decisions by preventing fair action on the issues.

He Who Rides a Tiger---

Washington Comment

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Set President Lyndon Johnson's State of the Union message beside the 1963 message from the late John F. Kennedy and you get some curious results.

Johnson's call to Congress sounds at times almost like an amalgam of Kennedy's 1961, 1962 and 1963 messages. The new President goes well beyond asking simply for a cleanup of Kennedy's unfinished 1963 legislative business.

The Republicans, whose campaign guns have been starved for want of late model anti-Johnson ammunition, now think they have it.

J. Drake Edens, South Carolina's GOP state chairman and ardent backer of Sen. Barry Goldwater for the presidency, was sure the ammunition would appear:

"Johnson is a child of his party, the liberal Democratic party, and he is going to show it. Party will assert itself, and he'll be seen for what he is."

Edens, other staunch southern Goldwater Republicans and some in other areas insist that the more the President talks and acts, the more he will disillusion Southern conservatives who think of him today as "one of theirs."

The 1964 message to Congress surely tends to feed this notion.

Johnson repeats the late President's appeals for big individual and corporate income tax cuts, a domestic "service" corps patterned on the Peace Corps, medical care for the aged, more medical facilities, an urban mass transit program.

But, beyond these proposals,

Johnson asks—in his broad-stroke message—for such specifics as more area redevelopment, more libraries, new efforts in housing and urban renewal, broader minimum wage laws, updated assaults on unemployment (including a commission on automation), special school aid funds to improve teaching and training.

Kennedy, of course, would also have asked for these things this year. The 1964 message took basic shape before he was assassinated. But the point to be made is that Johnson clutched the whole array of proposals. He might easily have ducked many.

Furthermore, he gave the first formal government expression to the late President's plan for a massive attack on poverty. And he supported in full the Kennedy civil rights legislation—developed long after the 1963 State of the Union address.

So, while Johnson's political adversaries will be scorning his speech as a "campaign document" (which any major election year effort certainly is), these same foes welcome the cannon shot it provides them.

But the President's message is basically a statement of goals. This can also be said of any following messages to Congress.

Southerners, Westerners and others reported in polls to have been drifting from Goldwater to Johnson still will be eyeing the President to see how hard a push he makes for his programs, and how well or poorly they are warranted his claims that he can manage these on a budget smaller than the one Kennedy advanced a year ago.

The Doctor Says:

Ringworm Fungi

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Q — How does one get ringworm? Do you have to touch a sore, or could you get it from touching objects that a person with ringworm has touched?

A — The fungi of ringworm are so widely distributed that we all harbor them on our skin at times. They do not gain a foothold in the deeper layers of your skin and cause lesions, unless there is a combination of rubbing and excessive moisture. That is why the lesions are most frequently seen in the groin and between the toes. Once they become established, they are often hard to get rid of.

Q — Is it safe for me to take Preludin tablets continually to keep my weight down?

A — The phenmetrazine (Preludin) you are taking is habit-forming. Such side effects as dryness or bad taste in the mouth have been reported. This drug should not be used for more than two weeks at a time.

Those who are sincere in their wish to lose weight can do so without the use of potentially dangerous drugs. This is a case where the cure may be worse than the disease.

Q — I am 74, and have a complete prolapse of the uterus which causes chafing and itching. Is there any danger of infection? Can this condition be repaired without a complete hysterectomy?

A — Prolapse is always associated with some danger of infection, especially of the urinary bladder. Any infection of the bladder or vagina should be treated before operation, but some form of operation should be performed.

In mild degrees of prolapse it is sometimes possible at operation to secure the uterus in its normal position, but when prolapse is complete in a woman who has passed the child-bearing age the uterus should be removed. Among other advantages, this prevents the development of uterine cancer.

Q — I recently lost my first baby at full term due to placenta previa. Is it likely that this will happen to me a second time?

A — Placenta previa is a partial separation of the placenta from the uterus before labor. This is a cause of serious uterine hemorrhage. It is usually due to the fact that the placenta is placed too near the outlet of the uterus.

Since this is a relatively rare mischance, it is most unlikely that it would happen to you in another pregnancy.

Q — I am 12. Last summer I had chicken pox and I was left with purple scars on my legs and little pits on my forehead. Is there anything that can be done for them?

A — The purple spots should gradually fade out in time. Meanwhile, there are cosmetics that can be used to make them less noticeable. If the pits persist you may want to consider surgical planing.

Under a New York dateline is the news release today: "A $79,800,000 bond sale is scheduled to get underway today to finance construction of a 5-mile toll bridge spanning the Straits of Mackinac."

Work has been resumed today on the new Catholic high school after a delay of five weeks because of shortage of material.

Three local commercial fishermen narrowly escaped drowning and their snowmobile is at the bottom of the bay in about fifty feet of water. Walter Olson and Ray Hermans were on the snowmobile and Jack LaPine was on a sled being towed when the accident occurred. Olson and Hermans went down with the rig and LaPine rescued them.

Operation Action Lists U.P. Progress In 1963

MARQUETTE — Michigan's Upper Peninsula is "on the move," to a better balanced economy, two civic leaders said as they reviewed progress made in 1963.

Walker L. Cisler, president, Detroit Edison Co., and Dr. Edgar L. Hardin, president of Northern Michigan University, said that fresh ideas coupled with the experience and "know how" of business, industry, education and government leaders from local communities and from throughout Michigan are contributing to the Upper Peninsula's new image of action.

A bright example of the Upper Peninsula on the move is the new open pit iron mine and ore processing plant providing jobs for 214 persons at Palmer just south of Negaunee. Four companies that jointly financed this mine and plan future expansion are Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Ore Co., McLouth Steel Corp., Inland Steel Co., and International Harvester Co.

Defeatism and apathy are on the way out, said the two co-chairmen of Operation Action, U. P. advisory council, Cisler and Dr. Hardin. They expressed confidence that Operation Action can work, with the Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Problems and other groups in a "team effort" to meet pressing problems and carry out a long range program for economic development.

The co-chairmen said that the results of the combined endeavors will have a favorable influence in the lives of some 305,000 people who live in the Upper Peninsula.

The men cited progress in the area's tourist and recreation industry, gains in business activity, fresh ideas for developing resources, progress in finding new markets for Upper Peninsula products and a general stability of employment.

The combined endeavors of many organizations and groups have produced these results:

1. The Copper Harbor Development Corp., has received a $625,000 federal loan from the ARA for a complete, modern, year-round recreational program in the Northern Keweenaw area which will include skiing, boating, golf, horseback riding and fishing facilities and new restaurants, hotel and motels.

2. Thunder Bay Recreation, Inc., has purchased 11 steam engines and rehabilitated 24 miles of railroad tracks for a recreational railroad for tourists and railroad fans in the Marquette-Big Bay area.

3. Plans are underway for the 1964 Exposition at Northern Michigan University with the theme, "Upper Peninsula on Parade."

4. Northern Michigan University received its university status.

5. Manistique Pulp & Paper Co., announced an expansion and modernization program of $2,500,000 through its parent, Field Enterprises, Inc., Manistique leaders have given much credit to Frank Hoholik, president and general manager of the mill.

6. A number of small manufacturers in several U. P. cities have also received direct assistance and contacts in finding new markets for their products.

7. In a joint project with UPCAP and the Upper Michigan Tourist Assn., tourist signs calling attention to scenic attractions are being prepared and will be placed in appropriate areas.

8. Two studies are nearing completion, one an electric power survey of Michigan, the other a study of energy in all its forms in Michigan.

9. New interest in marketing the area's vast source of timber and its by-products.

10. Opening of the new International Bridge linking Sault Ste. Marie with Canada.

11. Opening of an all free-way route from the Ohio border to Sault Ste. Marie.

12. Ore shipments at Marquette reached 5,691,240 tons in 480 ships. This exceeds the wartime high of 5,658,672 tons in 1941 and is 1.5 million tons, or 36 per cent, ahead of 1962. Shipments from Escanaba in 1962 also exceeded the previous year.

Ford Tells How To Aid Jobless

DETROIT (AP)—Henry Ford II said Wednesday night it is "the most dangerous kind of nonsense to say U.S. industry is not providing enough jobs because we have too much automation, too rapid displacement of men by machines."

The chairman of the board of Ford Motor Co. in a speech at the Society of Automotive Engineers annual convention called for a double-barreled attack on unemployment—1, by providing additional jobs and 2—by trying to help unemployed workers poorly qualified by skill and education to fill jobs that are available.

"The rate of unemployment for the past six years has been too high, but in spite of the rapid growth of our work force, the unemployment rate has not increased," Ford said.

Ford urged young Americans to cut the rate of school dropouts and to get all the education they possibly could to qualify them for better jobs.

Ford criticized those who say that America never again will have enough work to keep all our labor force fully and productively employed.

He mentioned the current low rate of unemployment in the auto industry, saying:

"Our industry now has very close to total employment, with only a handful of employees on layoff. Ford Motor Co. employment for the past two years has been substantially higher than at any time since 1957. Unemployment in Detroit and Michigan is at its lowest level in years."

Durocher Faces $150,000 Suit

MIDDLEBURY, Vt. (AP)—Leo Durocher, baseball coach, has been sued for $150,000 in an alienation of affections suit brought by a local self-employed mason, Rene Morin of Swanton, Vt.

Durocher, in Vermont over the weekend to make a speech at an American Legion scholarship fund-raising dinner, was arrested and released on $30,000 bond.

His attorney, Lt. Gov. Ralph A. Foote, said there was no association with Morin's wife Anna, other than that she was the mother of Carolyn Morin who was a receptionist for Durocher in California.

The four daughters of Mrs. Morin issued a statement saying there was no truth in the alienation charge, and said that the father had "not acted normally toward our mother or ourselves for some months. He has even threatened us physically."

Miss Morin, who is in her 20s, and her three married sisters, Jean Hadley, Paula Sharkey and Elinor White, issued the statement through Foote.

Morin's attorney must appear in court with the complaint in 21 days or the matter will be dropped.

Mission Hill Resort Reopens

SAULT STE. MARIE — The number of ski resorts in Upper Michigan has climbed back to 15 with the reopening of the Iroquois Mountain area near Brimley in Chippewa County.

Lake Shore Skiers, Inc., a non-profit organization, is operating the former Mission Hill winter sports facility — after receiving a lease from the Small Business Administration. Although operation of the lodge is not included in the lease, motels, hotels and restaurants are available all along the Lake Superior shoreline to Sault Ste. Marie for accommodation of skiers.

Like other Upper Peninsula ski areas, Iroquois Mountain is a natural facility that provides downhill runs suitable for both beginner skiers and experts. It has a double chair lift, two rope tows and a small warming chalet.

Lake Shore Skiers, Inc., which Joe Porcarelli is serving as president, also is operating a facility right in Sault Ste. Marie for persons who enjoy skiing at night. This municipal recreation hill is lighted on two runs, has a rope tow and a new 30-meter jump.

Porcarelli also is serving as general manager of the Iroquois Mountain setup, which—like the rest of the Peninsula—is blessed with plenty of snow from now through much of March. At present the snow base ranges from 6 to 15 inches, with from one to four inches of new snow falling every few days. It is open seven days a week.

The U. S. Forest Service, which owns a portion of the resort land, cooperated in the Lake Shore Skiers' project, making it possible for the organization to reopen the resort taken over by the SBA last spring.

Carbide Plans Republic Plant

MARQUETTE—The township of Republic in Marquette County is seeking to acquire 57.60 acres of state-owned land near the village of Republic for a plant site for the Union Carbide Corp.

The Conservation Department's land division has proposed that the township acquire 200 acres—160 in Marquette County and 40 in Mackinac County—to exchange for the state-owned land southeast of Republic.

Union Carbide plans to erect a liquefied oxygen plant in the Republic area to service the Republic and Humboldt Mines. The only practical system for drilling holes for blasting at these properties is jet piercing, in which liquefied oxygen and kerosene are used as sources of energy.

The Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co., which operates the mines, now uses liquefied oxygen that is shipped into the area in special railroad cars.

Flag-Carrying Sailor Praised

WASHINGTON (AP) — A young sailor who bore the presidential colors in John F. Kennedy's funeral cortege has won himself something of a fan club.

From coast to coast — even from Canada — admirers have written to 19-year-old Seaman Appren. Edward Memeth with expressions of "well done."

Some sent their letters of praise to Secretary of the Navy Paul B. Nitze, who chimed in with a formal commendation of young Memeth's "exemplary conduct and appearance."

The tall, crewcut sailor, only a year in the Navy, was seen by millions on television as he marched slowly, solemnly and alone behind the caisson bearing the assassinated president's casket.

Judging by some of the letters he and the Navy have since received, he somehow exemplified the poignancy of the event.

From Napa, Calif., one man wrote: "Many of us will long remember you, tall, straight, light of step, marching with such poise and dignity."

The one which Memeth said he liked the best was a note in the handwriting of a child and signed "Your friend, Patricia."

It said "I think you are very kind and wish you happiness."

Memeth is attached to a Navy ceremonial guard unit here and has performed the flag-carrying chore at a number of naval funerals.

Gear Division Of GM Has Big Year In Saginaw

SAGINAW (AP) — William H. Doerfner, general manager of General Motors' Saginaw steering gear division, said Wednesday the division had the most successful business year in its history last year.

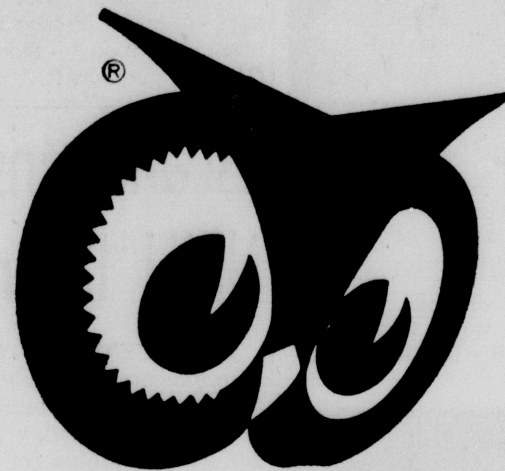

The division has four plants in Saginaw.

Doerfner said, "We ended 1963 with 4,750 employees, largest employment in recent years and our annual payroll reached an alltime high of $35 million." He said, "All forecasts lead us to believe that our business for 1964 will be equal to or better than 1963's record setting pace."

The division, Doerfner said, last year shipped more power steering systems, manual steering gears, power steering pumps, propeller shafts, front end linkages and balljoints in 1963 than in any previous year.

China is said to be the native home of the peach tree.

BARK RIVER—Thirty fires in Bark River Township caused an estimated property loss of $27,800.75 during the past year according to the state fire loss report of Fire Chief Herman Palmgren of the Bark River Volunteer Fire Department.

Chief Palmgren reported building loss of $20,000.75 and contents other than dwellings as $7,800.00. The total fire loss in 1962 was $16,251.75 and 17 fires showing an increase of $11,549.00 and an increase of 13 calls in the number of fire calls.

The fire department responded to 30 calls in Bark River and one outside call when they assisted the Harris Fire Department at a Perronville fire. That department assisted the Bark River Department at one call. The fires were listed as ten grass fires, four dwelling houses, one careless burning of garbage, two overheated space heaters, one overheated stove, four chimney fires, one fire place, two barns, one auto truck, one chain saw, one out-house and one chicken coop.

Eighteen firemen worked a total of 407 man hours to control the various fires and the fire trucks traveled a total of 196 miles covering fires.

The Bark River Volunteer Fire Department has 22 volunteer members who attended meetings every two weeks, responded to fire calls, and had a total of 72 hours training in firefighting and the use of equipment. Sept. 13, Chief Palmgren, Andrew Barr and Hector Larson attended a Missile Propellant Control Demonstration at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base. To meet the requirements of the missile field, firemen must be thoroughly trained in the hazards associated with missile propulsion. Propellants include various exotic fuels, oxidizers and igniters. The program consisted of twelve demonstrations.

Officers of the department are: Fire Chief, Herman Palmgren; assistant chief, Kenneth Palmgren; president, Andrew Barr; secretary, Lloyd Olson; and treasurer, Frank Adams.

Upper Peninsula Jobless Rate Shows Decrease

EAST LANSING (AP)—Unemployment in Michigan rose slightly in November but remained below the national jobless rate, report Michigan State University economists.

The November rate in the state was 4 per cent, above the October figure of 3.5 per cent but under the national rate of 5.4 per cent, the economists said.

Of the total state labor force in November of nearly 2.9 million, 116,000 were unemployed.

The economists said the lowest jobless rate among 14 labor market areas in the state was Flint's, with only 1.7 per cent idle. Saginaw had two per cent jobless.

The Upper Peninsula was at the other end of the scale with 8.8 per cent out of work, although the area's figure was under the 9.3 jobless rate of November, 1962.

Other labor areas and their rankings: Ann Arbor, 2.1; Grand Rapids, 2.2; Lansing, 2.7; Kalamazoo and Benton Harbor, 3.2; Detroit, 3.7; Muskegon, 4.2; Jackson, 4.6; Bay City, 4.9; Battle Creek, 5.1; Port Huron, 5.7.

Van Pelt Cites Research Aid To Mining Industry

DULUTH, Minn. — "It's an axiom of research that every properly conducted research program uncovers more questions than it answers," said Dr. J. R. Van Pelt, president of Michigan Tech here. "But every question that is answered means money in the pocket."

What is really needed in the mining industry, he said, is an industry-wide research program similar to that conducted for the petroleum industry by the American Petroleum Institute.

He said Michigan also has a low-grade iron ore problem, but while Minnesota has spent millions of state dollars to solve the taconite problem, Michigan has spent only thousands.

As an example of industry-university cooperation, Dr. Van Pelt cited research conducted at Michigan Tech for the White Pine Copper Co., a subsidiary of the Copper Range Co. From the time when drilling began, it required 24 years, including 12 years of research, to achieve economic stability, he said.

"The key," Dr. Van Pelt emphasized, "is mutual benefit—the only sound basis for any voluntary working relationship. The state gained a great resource; the University and its students gained research experience and income; and the company gained information that was of prime importance in staying alive."

Evinrude Honors Waterways Board

The Michigan State Waterways Commission received the 10th annual Ole Evinrude Award for "significant contributions to recreational boating," this week in New York. The $1,000 award is made each year by the Evinrude Boating Foundation, Milwaukee, for outstanding achievement in the field of boating.

The Michigan Waterways Commission received the award for its comprehensive program on behalf of the state's more than 500,000 boatmen. The program, started in 1947, provides harbors-of-refuge, the improvement existing waterfront facilities, preservation of cruising areas, installation of state aids-to navigation, development of an educational program for boatmen, inspection of boat liveries, sanctioning of races and regattas and the safeguarding of bottomlands in the interest of boatmen and the public at large.

This is the first time a state has received the award. In lieu of a personal property tax on small craft, Michigan licenses power boats, 16-feet and over, which are used on the Great Lakes. Revenues received through boat licensing and from a state marine fuel tax total approximately $1,150,000 annually. The sum supports the commission and is returned to the boatmen in the form of improvements.

Trombone Star Teagarden Dies

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The jazz trombone of Jack Teagarden—sometimes lazy and lyrical, sometimes brash and brassy—has been silenced.

Teagarden was found dead Wednesday in his motel room, not far from the night clubs of the historic French Quarter where his Dixieland beat set feet tapping so many times. He was 58.

An autopsy was planned today to determine the cause of death.

Teagarden was found face down on the floor. He wore a dress shirt and undershorts. His last engagement was at the Dream Room, a Bourbon Street nightclub within earshot of his motel room.

The engagement was scheduled to end today, said Walter Noto, co-owner of the Dream Room, "but he took sick on Thursday the 9th."

"About one o'clock in the morning, he said he couldn't play anymore," said Noto. "I didn't know he was still in town. I thought he was going to his home at Pompano Beach, Fla., the next day."

Almost entirely self-taught, Teagarden played his trombone with its pulsating rhythms throughout the nation's jazz haunts for the past four decades. He had a style all his own, jazz experts said.

Teagarden, a heavy-set, moon-faced man, was also a band leader and jazz singer of note. His husky singing voice sounded not unlike the bellows of his lazy trombone.

Former Purple Gangster Gets Prison Parole

JACKSON (AP)—A former Detroit "Purple Gang" member who has served 32 years on a life sentence was to be released today from Southern Michigan Prison on a mercy parole.

Raymond Brunstein, now 59 and partially paralyzed because of a stroke suffered last spring, was sent to prison by a jury that found him guilty in a 1931 gangland triple-slaying in Detroit.

The State Parole Board in October recommended Brunstein for a commutation of sentence and Gov. George Romney followed the recommendation, making the prisoner eligible for parole.

The former Detroit, confined to a wheelchair, was to be admitted to University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor. Sentenced with Brunstein in the aftermath of the so-called "Collingwood Massacre" gangland slaying were Harry Keywell, 52, who is still in prison, and Irving Milberg, who died in prison in 1938.

Strike Averted By Teamsters

CHICAGO (AP) — James R. Hoffa's International Brotherhood of Teamsters and the nation's truckers reached agreement on an unprecedented master contract early today affecting more than 400,000 workers, averting a strike for last midnight.

Hoffa said the contract, which he described as the first national labor agreement reached without a major strike, would bring more than 400,000 teamster members and 400 locals into one single bargaining unit.

"This is one of the finest contracts ever negotiated in the United States," Hoffa said at an early morning news conference. "Everything is fine," he said of negotiations with the Trucking Employees, Inc. "All you have to be is patient."

The three-year contract, which expires March 31, 1967, provides for a 28-cent pay increase spread over the contract period. Truckers' salaries will increase 10 cents the first year, 8 cents the second year and 10 cents the third year.

The average industrywide pay for Teamsters' truckers now is about $3.17 per hour.

The contract still must be ratified by the rank and file membership of the Teamsters.

Long Arm Of Castro Reaches To Panama

By LEON DENNEN
Newspaper Enterprise Analyst
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—(NEA)—President Johnson has ordered a full report on any evidence that Red agents whopped up anti-American mob action in Panama to fatal extremes.

Here is some information, uncovered by this reporter during a tour of Panama, that might help the President's investigators.

The riots were long brewing. They were predicted by Thelma King, Fidel Castro's top agent in Panama. The tall, dynamic brunette is also an influential member of Panama's national assembly.

As many as 10,000 young Latin-Americans are now trained in guerrilla warfare by Soviet specialists in school's operated by Fidel Castro's government. Many trainees were recruited in Panama.

In an interview with this writer, Thelma King warned that "time is fast running out for the Americans in the Canal Zone."

The Red senora visited Moscow and then Havana, where she discussed the canal and Latin American — "only casually," she said — with Premier Khrushchev and Castro. She returned to Panama determined that the 1903 treaty which granted the United States rights to the Canal Zone is null and void.

"My goal is complete Panamanian sovereignty in the Canal Zone," said Senora King. "If I have my way, there will be one flag flying over the Canal — Panama's flag. All authorities will be Panamanian and there will be no North American governor in the Canal Zone."

American officials may cherish their illusions if they wish, but it was no ordinary Panamanian who rioted because American pupils raised the stars and stripes at Balboa High School. There was nothing spontaneous about the orgy of violence. The revolutionary students who killed and looted were guided by experts in terrorism.

The U. S. peace mission now in Panama to negotiate a settlement is in the wrong place, talking to the wrong people.

President Rozerto Chiari, for all his good will, cannot guarantee that anti-American riots will not erupt again.

The key to the Panamanian tragedy is likely to be in Moscow, where Castro hastened for talks with Khrushchev before the rifle fire had died down in Panama.

What next in Panama? No spot in the hemisphere is more vulnerable to Red subversion than the little republic. All the economic and political ills afflicting Latin America are mirrored in this country, where a few ruling families have far too much at the expense of far too many.

But the problems facing the United States are further complicated by the colonial-minded Americans who manage the canal and are jealous of their smallest privileges.

Despite the 1959 and 1962 riots, they ignored warnings by pro-American Panamanians that the situation was explosive. They continued to live in the zone's "gilded cage" with their special stores, schools, hospitals and even churches.

Chiari's diplomatic break with the United States was merely the feeble gesture of a helpless man. Panama, of all Latin American countries, could not exist a month without U. S. aid or canal tolls.

Most Panamanians, in fact, fervently hope that the U. S. will continue to run the canal — though they want an equal

Stocks Of Corn Fag Fiends Quit, Higher Than '63 Become Bores

LANSING (AP) — Stocks of corn, wheat, rye and soybeans on Michigan farms as of Jan. 1 were greater than a year ago while less oats, barley and hay were stored, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said Tuesday.

Corn stocks, at 74 million bushels, were six per cent above a year ago. Wheat stocks, at 5.6 million bushels, were 18 per cent up from last year. There was a slight increase in rye and soybean stocks.

Oat stocks, at 23 million bushels, were down 23 per cent. Barley stocks, at slightly above one million bushels, were down 18 per cent.

December milk production on Michigan farms was 448 million pounds, about the same as for the month last year. The December egg production of 111 million eggs was up one per cent from the previous year.

NEW YORK (AP)—The cigarette addicts who used to get smoke in our eyes now simply get in our hair.

Since they swore off the filthy weed as a result of the present health scare, they have become matchless bores.

Mark Twain pointed out long ago there was no problem in quitting smoking. "I've done it a thousand times," he said.

But the current crop of swearer-offers is making a big production out of it. If you look around your own social circle, you may find the following types of ex-smokers familiar—perhaps only too familiar:

The Crusader — Not content with giving up smoking himself, he wants everyone else to quit, too. "If I had my way," he mutters darkly, "I'd put a torch to every tobacco field in the country."

Secret Backslider — He denounces nicotine in public, but several times a day sneaks out to the office washroom and smokes three cigarettes like crazy. Then he chews a couple of mints so no one can smell tobacco on his breath.

Rationed Abstinence — This cheapskate hasn't quit smoking cigarettes. He has just quit buying them. By the end of the day he has put away three packs—all borrowed. He borrows the matches, too.

Confessor — Like a reformed drunk, this fellow is compelled to brag to one and all about how awful he used to be before

Alarm Fake But Fireman Burns

KALAMAZOO (AP)—An automatic alarm alerted the Kalamazoo Fire Department Tuesday night but the only thing that was burning was one of the firemen.

A pumper truck arrived at the KVP Sutherland Co., a paper firm, to find it was a false alarm.

But that wasn't the case for fireman Robert Miller, 33, who smelled smoke and opened his coat to find a blaze in his shirt pocket, where he had hurriedly stuck his pipe when the alarm sounded.

Moller, who doused the burning shirt, said he thought he'd switch to cigarettes.

Liar—at the office he thumps his chest and brags, "Don't miss 'em a bit. Never felt better in my life. Should have done it years ago." But at home he snaps at his wife and children, kicks his dog, and if you look closely at his fingernails you will see they are gnawed down to the first knuckle.

Those who give up cigarette smoking aren't the heroes. The real heroes are the rest of us—who have to listen to them.

Farmers' Week Opens Feb. 3 At Michigan State

EAST LANSING — Teen-age marriages, careers for youth, and food fads are a few of the "hot" topics coming into focus during Michigan State University's 49th annual Farmers' Week, Feb. 3-7.

During special events for homemakers, Dr. Eugene Peisner, Thelma Hansen and Carol Shaffer — all members of MSU's home management and child development staff — will present a Tuesday program called "Take a Look at Teen-Age Marriage." They will cover such questions as "Why are we having so many teen-age marriages? Should we be concerned that almost 40 per cent of all brides are teen-agers? Does early dating lead to early marriage?"

A film, "Early Marriage," will also be shown.

Dr. Martha E. Dale, also of the home management and child development staff, will discuss "Your Investment: Sense into Dollars," on Tuesday morning. On Thursday morning, Dr. Lawrence L. Boger, chairman of MSU's agricultural economics department, speaks on "Stone Walls and Iced Halls."

Both sessions are general career programs for youth and their parents. Each will be followed by panel discussions on 18 different career areas.

"Food Fads and Fallacies" is the topic chosen by Dr. Dena Cederquist for Wednesday afternoon. Dr. Cederquist, chairman of the MSU Department of Foods and Nutrition, plans to help her audience discover the "old-time medicine man" as he appears in today's society.

Other homemakers' programs feature explorations into housing, landscape design, home lighting and modern textiles. All homemakers' events are free.

Complete programs for Farmers' Week are available from your county extension office, or write to Bulletin Office, Room 10, Agricultural Hall, Michigan State University, East Lansing.

The neck is probably one of the most neglected areas of the body. Like the face, it needs thorough cleansing and stimulating massage.

PRICED TO TEMPT POP

This season furs are big with the younger set for the cost of sporty furs is reasonably low. Paris-inspired coat (left) of natural kit fox is horizontally worked to surround the fashion-conscious career girl from knee to nose and is priced within the working girl's budget. Campus classic in curly white Norwegian lamb (right) has a papa-pleasing price tag. It is lined in a bright shade of silk. Both are Evans designs.

NEW YORK —(NEA)—A

fur coat can add a couture look to a career girl's wardrobe.

And this year, the price of that touch of glamor is within reason.

In past seasons, furs were luxury items that young people could seldom afford. Now to a career girl's wardrobe, the new sport furs, many of which can be bought for the price of a good cloth coat, have opened a new world of fashion to working girls and coeds alike.

Curly white Norwegian lamb,

snow lynx, mink sides, kit fox and the spotted South American cats that look like leopard all can be worn with flair and swagger by the young set.

Over her smart, little wool dresses, a natural kit fox coat

can take the career girl through day and evening. In shimmering shades of rust and honey, this fur has just the right touch of sophistication, and its price will outfox a limited budget.

For the college girl, furs such as curly lamb, white or brightly dyed, will gambol with ease over the campus from football game to fraternity dance. And dad won't balk at its cost.

Furriers are finding that they have an almost untapped market among working girls and students because of the new sporty furs. These fashions are fun to wear and budget blessings.

They come in a variety of styles from belted trench coats to swinging A-lines. On many the fur is worked horizontally rather than vertically for a new fashion approach.

And before we overlook comfort while stressing price and style,—the coats are cozy-ly warm, too, to keep you snug

this winter

Ann Landers Car Crazy Boys

Dear Ann Landers: Our 14-year-old son is driving me crazy. In this state he can get a learner's permit at 15, but he won't be 15 until May. For the last three months he has spent every extra minute in the car—starting, stopping, backing up and going a few feet forward—in the driveway. My husband said the boy used half a tank of gas over the weekend and he didn't go anywhere.

The 14-year-old is highly competitive with his brother who is 16. The 16-year-old is car crazy, too, and it's probable that he'll get a car from his grandmother for his 17th birthday. He insists the girls will not look at a boy unless he has a car. Furthermore, he has sold his younger brother on the idea that a car is the key to success. In the meantime, their grades are just fair. Please tell us what to do.—BOXED IN

Dear Boxed: The first thing you can do is put the kibosh on Granny's gift. A 17-year-old who is doing just fair in school should not have a car.

Next you can ask yourself why your sons seem to have so much spare time. They should be busy with school work, Scouting, science projects, sports, hobbies—the list is endless.

Boys who are encouraged to channel their time and energy constructively will not be sitting in the driveway by the hour, draining the gas tank.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a retired farmer, 58 years of age, with a grown family. My wife passed away two years ago. I've taken out a few women, but I was never interested in getting married again until now. I'd marry Dolly in a minute, but one thing is standing in the way. She does not want to get married.

Dolly's husband died four years ago. She is 52 years of age and looks like 35. Dolly says she likes me as a friend but that's as far as it goes.

When I try to hold her hand she says, "Stop the foolishness." Ann, I want this woman for a wife not a pal. What is your advice? —NOT DEAD YET

Dear Not Yet: Date other women. This may encourage Dolly to rethink her thinking. After six months if Dolly still wants to be your pal, give her a Methodist handshake and find a woman who is interested in marriage.

Dear Ann: My cousin and I went all through school together and have been lifelong friends. We've had crushes on the same fellows, and were competitors in debate and oratory.

Recently she has made some cutting remarks. I was shocked last evening when she told a number of people in my presence that in our younger days my mother was such a poor housekeeper I used to ask my dates to pick me up at her house. The truth is that when our home was being remodeled I did this once.

Today I called her and asked why she said such a thing and she replied, "You're too sensitive. Everyone exaggerates a little to make a point. You have no sense of humor." I'd like your opinion. —NOT LAUGHING

Dear Not Laughing: People who make cutting remarks and then criticize your sense of humor are destructive and they don't deserve to be counted as friends.

Tell your cousin your sense of humor is just fine which is more than can be said for her integrity. And next time don't wait till the next day. Nail her on the spot.

Ann Landers' frank and informative new book, "Teen-Agers and Sex" ($2.95), is now available at your book store.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Back Pay Claimed

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A Jenison poultry processing company operated by Henry Busscher was charged in an injunction suit by the Labor Department Wednesday with failure to pay $14,600 in back wages of 33 employees.

Cigaret Sales Down For 1963

LANSING (AP) — Fewer packs of cigarettes were sold in Michigan in fiscal 1963 than in 1962, the State Revenue Department reports, although cigarette tax collections jumped $17 million because of a higher rate.

Such taxes produced $68.5 million for the state treasury during the 1962-63 fiscal year ending June 30, 1963, the department said. The collections resulted from sales of just over one billion packages. The total was down 7.2 million from the previous year, however.

Supplement Feed Grains Available

Schoolcraft County is among those designated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for sale of government owned feed grain at reduced prices to supplement feed supplies. Thirteen Michigan counties were named. At present only corn is available. Prices range from 98 1/4¢ per bushel to $1.31, depending on types of livestock.

Under severe drought, flood or similar conditions, the secretary of agriculture is permitted to make available Commodity Credit Corp. feed grain to eligible farmers in effected areas for cattle. Included are producing dairy cattle, sheep and goats at not less than 75 per cent of the feed grain support prices, and other eligible livestock at 100 per cent of support price. ASC offices are in charge of determining eligibility. Livestock owners cannot buy the CC-owned feed grains unless they do not have enough feed for livestock or are unable to obtain it without financial hardship.

Application may be made at the ASC office at 199 Maple St., Manistique. Car load lots must be ordered.

Bus Fund-Raising Meeting Slated

A meeting to discuss fund-raising for the new high school bus will be held at 7:30 p. m., Jan. 23 in the library of Manistique High School. Any interested individual or organization is invited to be present. Members of the planning group for the bus stress that it is for school use and will not be for other organizations' use, as state regulations do not permit this.

Terry Linderth Severely Injured

Terry R. Linderth, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Linderth is receiving treatment in Lutheran General Hospital, Room 425, Park Ridge, Ill., for extensive injuries suffered when he was injured while at work with the Raymond International Test Boring division at Park Ridge.

The young man's clothing caught in a bolt extending from the drilling unit, a 15-ton rig which also recently worked in Manistique. He apparently was thrown against the equipment and then spun about. He has fractures of the left arm and both legs and ankles, head and chest injuries and shock. The accident occurred Jan. 4 at 10:30 a. m. A nearby worker rescued Linderth, who was unable to turn off the machine after it began spinning him.

Mr. and Mrs. Linderth have returned from Park Ridge, where they were called when he was injured.

Frozen Cherry Market Tested

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Consumers this year may help decide whether the Great Lakes Cherry Producers Marketing Cooperative Inc. will develop and market individual quick frozen cherries.

Test marketing plans for West Michigan, plus Detroit and Saginaw areas, were disclosed in a newsletter from the organization's headquarters here. Member growers are located in Michigan, New York, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Virginia-West Virginia.

Tentatively, the association will test market 20,000 plastic, reusable bowls each containing a pound of the unsugared IQF cherries.

The newsletter claims that the quick frozen cherries pour like marbles and are easier to process in home kitchens than lump frozen packs.

An experimental pack of cherries last year helped the cooperative meet requests of European buyers.

The newsletter noted that members at all district meetings have supported entry into the new operation and added that the cooperative has a contingency fund to finance the venture.

The association reported it could buy from members at least 2 million pounds of cherries for the quick frozen process. A final decision awaits results of the test marketing in Michigan and results of the institutional pack for Europe.

Mackie Assails Plan To Divert Highway Funds

LANSING (AP)—Highway Commissioner John Mackie Tuesday termed as "a fraud on motorists" what he called an apparent move by Gov. George Romney to divert highway funds to state police.

"There are many indications Gov. Romney intends to divert the motorists' highway taxes to buy more state police," said Mackie.

"And he is trying to tie our increased freeway mileage to traffic accidents in other places to justify the raid," Mackie said. "A move like this is a fraud on the motorist."

"It takes the motorists' taxes away from improving our streets and highways—one of the most important direct traffic safety measures," he said.

Mackie, who recently abandoned a freeway "service patrol" plan when he met opposition from Romney's office, said recent statements from Romney's office need for more state police troops "attempt to connect the need for more state police troops to our increased freeway mileage."

"This is absurd," he said. "The freeways are the safest highways on which anyone can travel. You don't need more police for traffic safety reasons on highways which already are the safest in Michigan."

Talent Sought For Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP) — Do you sing, dance, tell jokes or walk a slack wire? Are you a riot at parties? Do your friends all tell you that you should be on television?

This then may be your big chance. CBS announced Wednesday that it would soon resume regular auditions for variety-show talent.

The auditions were stopped five or six years back, but from them emerged several bright stars, including Carol Burnett, Don Knotts and George Gobel.

Vice President Michael Dann, announcing the project, said the auditions would be held in New York and attended by producers of all the network variety shows made in Hollywood and the East.

GOING NUTS — Nutty costume jewelry is the newest sensation in fashion accessories. All a style-setter needs is an array of nuts, dye, ribbons and a little imagination. The Tintex Color Council says the nuts should be shelled, dyed overnight and glazed with clear nail polish. Insert screw eyes into the nuts and string them on ribbons.

Union Lays Plan To Meet Offers On Marble Firm

GLADSTONE—United Auto Workers Union Local 126 of the Marble Division today asked ITT-Bell & Gossett, Inc., of Morton Grove, Ill., for a chance to meet any bid for the Marble Arms plant from a bidder planning to liquidate the business or move it out of Gladstone.

Members of the local meeting Monday night decided on the action in an effort to keep in Gladstone one of the community's pioneer businesses. International Telephone & Telegraph, which bought Bell & Gossett Co., last fall, announced last week that it was offering the Marble Arms part of B&G's Marble Division for sale.

The Marble Division consists of two units, Marble Electric which produces electric motors, and Marble Arms which manufactures sporting goods equipment such as gun sights, cleaning rods, etc.

Union members have set up a committee in an effort to obtain funds from service clubs, fraternal organizations, businessmen and city fathers, which would be used to meet any offer made by any outside firm interested in buying the Marble Arms business and moving it elsewhere.

The local said it felt that inasmuch as the business was founded and operated on local capital, for many years, it was fair to assume that capital to keep the firm operating here still exists locally.

A request will be made to ITT by the union for the opportunity to meet an offer of any company interested in purchase of the business with the intention of moving it from Gladstone.

Members of the union committee include: Mrs. Myrtle Brown, chairman, and Mrs. Blondina Peterson, Harvey C. Brown and Edmund LeClaire. LeClaire is employed at Marble Electric. Brown, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Peterson are all unemployed as the result of ITT's announcement that it is curtailing Marble Arms operations until sale of the plant. Approximately 30 persons were laid off by the firm.

Judge Cleared Of Racial Bias

LANSING (AP)—An amended order designed to clear a Detroit Recorder's Court judge of racial bias in a civil rights trial was issued Tuesday by the Michigan Supreme Court.

The amended order cited "judicial error" as its reason for having earlier declared a mistrial in the case of 17 persons involved in a picketing demonstration in Detroit.

The first order had merely said the mistrial was declared and the case should be remanded for prompt trial before a Recorder's judge other than John P. O'Hara, who heard the original case.

The amended version said O'Hara had committed judicial error by refusing "to permit a separate record to be made on matters desired to be available for appeal" and "refusing to permit counsel to make motions to the court."

The 17 persons were arrested on misdemeanor charges while demonstrating at the headquarters of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association.

The case was still in the jury-selection stage last Friday when the high court ruled the mistrial, acting on complaint of attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

ANNUAL DATE WITH STORK
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Lynn Gresham claims December is a magic month for her sister, Mrs. Darryl Crombie of Portland, Ore.
Mrs. Crombie was married on Dec. 28 and her first child, Darryl Jr., was born on the next Dec. 28.
On the second wedding anniversary, Connie was born; Jeff came along on the third anniversary; and Corrine arrived on Mrs. Crombie's fourth wedding anniversary.
This amazing timing failed the next year: Charles was born on Dec. 22. And it happened again the following year when D.P., the sixth child, arrived.

This season's Great Lakes Conference basketball race would give an IBM machine fits. First one team makes a run at the leaders, then another. First one team heads the standings, then another. Latest to make a bid for the top rung of the ladder is Ishpeming. The Hematites have won their last three GLC starts against Marquette, Newberry and Escanaba. With a 4-3 record, they still have games against Gladstone and Stephenson (this weekend), Marquette, Soo and Negaunee. With the right kind of a break, the Hematites could be the team to beat Soo out of the title this season.

Entry blanks for the 1964 Upper Peninsula Golden Gloves championship tournament were placed in the mail this week. The official entry blanks went to Menominee, Manistique, K. I. Sawyer, Kitcheloe and Ironwood boxing teams. Entries are expected from each of the clubs, in addition to the Escanaba team being trained this year by former standout scrapper LeRoy Sovey.

The Lake Superior Coaches-Officials Assn., organized in the Upper Peninsula last year, has 40 members at present and expects to grow with the addition of officials from the Escanaba area, as well as other parts of the Upper Peninsula. The organization plans to make a sportsmanship trophy award to some deserving school next year.

A field of 22 teams from throughout the state will compete in the VFW Junior Hockey tournament at Ironwood this weekend. Slated for action in the state tournament are teams from the Ironwood, Copper Country, Marquette and Soo areas of the Upper Peninsula and downstate Dearborn. Competition will be in age groups from 10 through 18 years.

This area's top individual basketball point producers are still at it. Pat Groleau of Nahma, Doug Moss of Rapid River, Ron Povol of Hermansville and Frank Trotter of Holy Name are setting the scoring pace for cagers in the Escanaba area.

Groleau, Nahma's 6 foot 5 inch star who is a standout in every department of the game, is the leading scorer in the Upper Peninsula with 269 points and an average of 33.6 per game. Groleau is the final word in consistency. He has hit a high of 47 and a low of 24 in his eight games, registering in the 30's the other six outings.

In spite of one game in which he hit only four points because of illness, Hermansville's Povol carries an imposing 26.5 average on 212 points in eight games. He reached a single game high of 36 in the second game of the season against Florence.

Moss also carries an average of 26.5 points per game. The Rapid River sharpshooter has tallied 239 points in nine starts. His best single game production was 37 early in the season and his lowest output was 16 in the opener.

Trotter, a deadeye junior guard at Holy Name, is one of the leading large-school gunners in the Peninsula this season. Trotter, who picks up most of his buckets from long range, carries a 21.7 average on 217 points in ten games. He has reached an individual game high of 27 twice and skidded to a low of 10 once this season.

End Of An Era Seems In Sight For Cincinnati

By The Associated Press

The end of an era seems at hand for Cincinnati in college basketball.

For six straight years, starting with the advent of Oscar Robertson, "the Big O," the Bearcats have swept all before them in the tough Missouri Valley Conference and last March just missed an unprecedented third straight national championship by losing in overtime to Chicago Loyola.

Robertson graduated after the 1960 season and Coach George Smith moved up to director of athletics. But the triumphant parade continued under new Coach Ed Jucker whose teams won a fantastic 82 of 89 games the last three years. Included were winning streaks of 27 and 37 straight.

Now, however, the Bearcats already have lost four games, the most in five years, and the hardest part of their MVC schedule still is ahead. UC still is dangerous and eighth-ranked nationally with nine wins against major opposition, but the Bearcats can't afford any more slips.

The Bradley Braves administered UC's fourth defeat Wednesday night, 87-77, and in the process ended the 'Cats winning streak of 41 on their home court. In fact it was the first MVC game the Bearcats have lost in the fieldhouse.

Joe Strawder, with 33 points, and Levern Tart, with 24, broke the game wide open for Bradley in the second half. All-America Ron Bonham threw in 25 for Cincinnati, but missed his last seven shots from the field.

The fifth-ranked unbeaten Davidson Wildcats, the only other team in The Associated Press Top Ten to see action Wednesday, came through with their 14th straight triumph, a weird 52-49 decision over Richmond.

The Wildcats, ahead 48-45, didn't shoot from the field for the last 13 minutes of play as they went into a deep freeze. Their last four points came on free throws, the last after the final whistle.

Hardin Simmons registered the upset of the night by downing Oklahoma City 87-74 behind Nate Madkins' 28 points. Bud Koper, Oklahoma City star, tossed in 23 before he suffered a cut over his eye late in the game.

Bill Cunningham's 27 points and good defensive work by Bryan McSweeney on Larry Lakin sparked North Carolina to a 79-71 victory over N.C. State while West Virginia and Xavier of Ohio both exploded in the second half to defeat Penn State 84-63 and Louisville 80-79, respectively.

Golden Gloves To Award Scholarship To College

Officials of the Upper Peninsula Golden Gloves tournament today announced that a two year tuition scholarship to Bay de Noc College will be awarded to one of the outstanding boxers competing in the tournament this year.

"We plan to make this an annual award. The selection of the young man to receive the scholarship to the Escanaba community college will be based on contribution to the tournament, personal character, and other factors to be determined by the selection committee," a spokesman for Golden Gloves announced.

The U. P. Golden Gloves tournament is sponsored annually by the Escanaba Lions Club, Daily Press and WLSJ. The 22nd tournament will be held at Holy Name High School on Feb. 1 and Feb. 8 this year.

The decision to offer a scholarship to one of the tournament boxers was made by the Central Boxing Committee this week. "We want to encourage education among our young people as a means of bettering their future, and at the same time we want to give our community college a boost," a committee spokesman explained.

Proceeds from the tournament are turned over to the Lions' Sight and Blind Charity fund.

William Anderson, chairman of the Lions' Sight and Blind committee, announced that the Lions in 1963 had contributed $1,700 to charity for eye examinations, glasses, canes and other expenses in the field.

TICKETS ON SALE

An advance sale of tickets for the two-night tournament will begin this weekend with tickets on sale at Gust Asps and Norm's Super Market in Escanaba and in Manistique.

The tournament will bring to Escanaba the cream of the crop of amateur boxers from throughout the Upper Peninsula and northern Wisconsin. Competition will be in two classes, novice for inexperienced boxers and open for more experienced boys.

No boxer may compete in the novice division after his 21st birthday, regardless of experience, and 31 is the age limit for boxers in the open division. The weight divisions run from 112 pounds through heavyweight.

Escanaba is expected to enter a strong team of scrappers. The Escanaba boxers are being trained this year for the first time by LeRoy Sovey, one of the top ring products turned out here in many years.

Other boxing teams are expected from Menominee, Manistique, Sawyer Air Base, Ironwood and Kitcheloe AFB.

Winners of Upper Peninsula championships will advance to Green Bay on Feb. 15 to meet champions from the Fond du Lac tournament. Green Bay's champions will then advance to the Wisconsin finals at Kenosha and the national finals will be staged late in February in Louisville, Ky.

Chualo Gets Ring Chance

CLEVELAND (AP)—A boxer on the ascent and another who needs a victory badly if he is ever to get a shot at the championship describes the combatants for Friday night's televised heavyweight fight between Canadian champion George Chualo and Zora Foley.

With youth and a heavier punch on his side is Chualo, 26, from Toronto. He won all six of his fights last year, his most recent being an early knockout of Mike DeJohn last September. He is ranked ninth in the world.

Foley, 31-year-old father of seven from Chandler, Ariz., is a 12-year veteran. He was knocked out by Sonny Liston in three rounds in 1960 before Liston became champion.

Foley, ranked No. 6, is a combination boxer-puncher with a 65-63 record, including 36 knockouts. Bill Swift, Foley's manager, is doubtful that Foley would remain in the fight game long if he loses a place in the top 10. A loss to Chualo could hasten his retirement.

Chualo never has been knocked down. He has a 25-7-2 record and boasts 19 knockouts.

Newsome Takes Scoring Lead

NEW YORK (AP)—Manny Newsome of Western Michigan tossed in 35 points against Central Michigan Tuesday and became college basketball's leading individual scorer.

Newsome moved ahead of (Butch) Komives of Bowling Green, who managed 29 points against Kent State the same night.

The weekly statistics for major colleges, released today by the NCAA Service Bureau, show Newsome on top with an average of 33.5 on 435 points in 13 games. Komives, No. 1 the last two weeks, now is second at 32.7 with 294 in nine games.

Danny Schultz of Tennessee continued the top foul shooter with 42 of 43 for a pct. of .977 and Paul Silas of Creighton retained the rebound leadership with 304 in 13 games for an average of 23.4. Jim King of Oklahoma State took over first in field goal percentage with a .640 on 48 of 75 attempts.

Finley Baseball Heretic With New-Fangled Ideas

By MIKE RATHET

NEW YORK (AP)—Charles O. Finley is a baseball heretic. He believes in orange baseballs, gold uniforms and a green light for his ideas.

Baseball believes in white baseballs, gray uniforms and a red light for his ideas.

That's why Finley has been sticking in the throats of American League club owners for three years and 29 days, or since he purchased controlling interest in the Kansas City Athletics for $1,975,000.

The day he bought the A's, Finley said:

"My intentions are to keep the A's permanently in Kansas City."

Since then he has threatened to move the franchise almost as often as Sandy Koufax strikes out batters.

Finley has investigated sites at Dallas-Fort Worth and Oakland, and entered a meeting today with other American League club owners holding a signed two-year contract to transfer the A's franchise to Louisville for the 1964 and 1965 seasons.

What kind of man is Charles

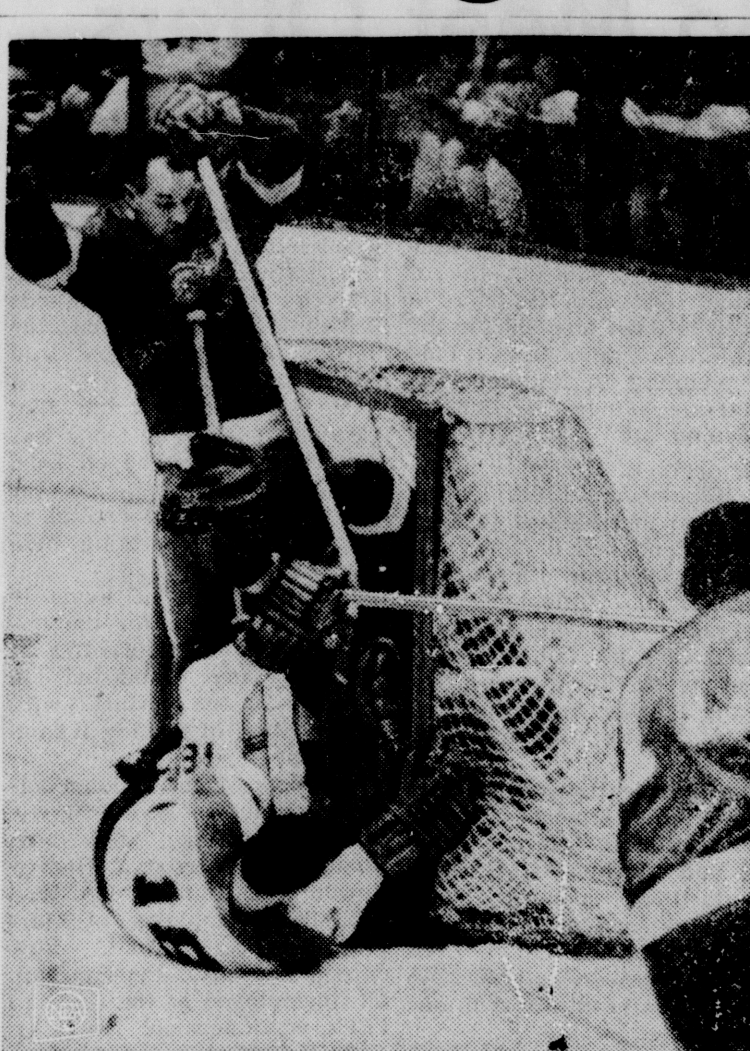

O. Finley, who has dressed his team in green and gold uniforms, grazes sheep beyond the outfield of Municipal Stadium to keep the grass short and forced the irrepressible Frank Lane, then the A's general manager, out to pasture?

Charles O. Finley is 45, handsome, outspoken, the father of seven children and a self-made millionaire. Some 15 years ago he lay in a hospital bed, virtually penniless, near death. Today his insurance business collects $20 million in premiums a year.

As a boy, Finley fed hogs on his parents' Alabama farm. He also sold magazines and newspapers. And he made a business out of rejected eggs, purchasing them for a nickel a dozen, and repedding them for 15 cents.

He spent five years in the steel mills, where his father, Oscar, labored for 47 years.

His baseball interest showed early. He was a bat boy for the Birmingham Barons and later organized his own sandlot team in Birmingham. He played first base. But he never got to first

Trenary Cagers Pass Century To Set Record

TRENNARY — The Trenary Comets smashed records in wholesale lots with a fabulous shooting performance here Wednesday night.

Coach Steve Ellis' trigger-happy cagers shot the eyes out of the bucket in a 113-69 Central League victory over Perkins.

The triumph was Trenary's eighth in nine starts this season. It also boosted the Comets into a tie for first place in the Central race with Eben.

The 113-point total was the highest posted by a prep team in the Upper Peninsula this season and represents a new school scoring record for Trenary.

The Comets set a torrid pace from the field, pumping in 47 of 111 shots for 42.4 percent. They added 19 of 32 free throw attempts for their astronomical total.

Ellis called on all eight players on his squad and used his first reserve as early as the initial quarter. All the players contributed to the scoring record and four of them reached double figures. Three of them were sidelined by fouls before the final gun.

Wayne Lusardi, 5 foot 8 inch junior, hit his all-time high of 36 points to lead the Comets. Roy Aho, 5-11 senior, tallied 23. Alan Rukkila added 15 and Mike Hawley 14.

Newberry Hosts Wrestling Clinic

NEWBERRY — A high school wrestling clinic will be held Tuesday, Jan. 21, starting at 6:45 p. m., at the Newberry High School gym, it was announced today by Coach Art Allen.

Allen invited all coaches, administrators and physical education teachers from area schools to attend the clinic.

"The purpose is to orient and encourage schools to put wrestling into their athletic programs," Allen stated.

Wrestling is offered as an interscholastic sport in most states in the country and is a popular sport in downstate Michigan schools. The sport is getting a foothold in Upper Peninsula prep circles in the Copper Country, Iron Mountain area and Marquette.

Wrestling is highly regarded among coaches as a high school sport.

Allen stated that Joe Poisson, wrestling coach at Soo Tech, will attend the clinic with some of his athletes. Allen has broken down his program as follows:

- 1—Promotion of wrestling as a high school sport.
- 2—Financing the program.
- 3—Rules and regulations.
- 4—A 25-minute film "Ready Wrestling."
- 5—Demonstration of basic holds and fundamentals.

Rangers Make Lead Hold Up

By The Associated Press

Toronto's timekeeper claims third periods in Maple Leaf Gardens are 20 minutes long just like everywhere else in the National Hockey League.

But it felt more like 49 for New York Coach Red Sullivan Wednesday night. Sullivan sweated it out as the Rangers all but tossed away a 5-0 lead and held on for a 5-4 victory over the Leafs in Wednesday's only NHL game.

Everything came up roses for the Rangers in the first two sessions as they peppered Leaf goalie Don Simmons, who let almost as many shots get by as he managed to stop. Simmons had 13 saves as New York had a 5-1 lead after two periods.

Suddenly the tide changed as three Leaf goals in 8½ minutes of the third period had Sullivan gasping. But the Rangers held on and escaped with their first victory in Toronto this season and only their second in the last 22 games at Maple Leaf Gardens.

The victory moved the Rangers within five points of the fourth-place Detroit Red Wings and left Toronto still tied with Montreal for second place, three points behind league-leading Chicago.

Weather Hits Olympic Plans

INNSBRUCK, Austria (AP)—Organizers of the 1964 Winter Olympics batted thaw, rain and lack of snow today in a heroic effort to save the games from disaster.

An emergency force of nearly 3,000 officials, army engineers, infantrymen and civilian volunteers were hunting for snow in far-off mountain regions and lugging it onto the Olympic sites.

Machines sprayed artificial snow on the bob sled and toboggan courses to stop the ice from melting in the balmy air.

Organizers are determined not to change the program, but they admit they may be forced to unless the weather changes for the games Jan. 29-Feb. 9.

BASEBALL, HO-HUM—Michael Bouton, 10 weeks, seems quite bored by the baseball world of his father, Yankee pitcher Jim Bouton. Even the autographed balls representing pop's 20-game wins during the 1963 season can evoke no more than a yawn at the Bouton home in Ridgewood, N.J.

Pistons Suffer Another Defeat

By The Associated Press
Who says the National Basketball Association has a bunch of score-happy teams?

You couldn't prove it by San Francisco and Detroit—at least not by their game Wednesday night. The game, won by San Francisco 89-79, was the lowest scoring game of the season.

But it was the second quarter that perhaps started people thinking the teams were trying to revolutionize the professional game. Each team scored only 11 points in that 12-minute span a feat as rare as NBA players under six feet tall.

Both teams recovered slightly after halftime, with the Warriors getting the better of the increased scoring the rest of the way.

The total point output for Detroit was its lowest at home in more than seven years.

Wilt Chamberlain paced San Francisco in scoring with 32 points. Bailey Howell had 21 for Detroit.

In a couple of more normal games, Los Angeles edged St. Louis 111-109 and Boston kept its slate clean against Baltimore 113-108.

Elgin Baylor's twisting flip shot from close in gave the Lakers their victory in the contest that was tied 30 times.

Baylor's field goal frustrated St. Louis' comeback in the final minute. Baskets by Bob Pettit with 42 seconds left and Bill Bridges with 20 left had deadlocked the game 109-109.

Cliff Hagan led all scorers with 39 points while Jerry West finished with 36 for Los Angeles.

Baltimore, which now has lost five in a row to Boston, came within three points of the Celtics at 111-108 with 40 seconds to play. But Sam Jones clinched the Boston triumph with a shot from the corner.

All eight Boston players scored in double figures. Baltimore's Rod Thorn and Terry Dischinger tallied 23 each.

Detroit Man In Semifinals

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—George Hagarty, a Detroit attorney, was the only Michigan player still in contention today in the Belleair Seniors Golf Championship.

Hagarty defeated Arthur D. Stone, St. Petersburg, Fla., 4 and 2, Wednesday to advance to the semi-finals.

Dr. Donald Jaffar of Detroit was eliminated, 3 and 2, by James T. Kirkpatrick of Manchester, Conn. And Hap Collins of Jonesville, Mich., lost to L. W. Ramsey, New Castle, Ind., 3 and 2.

Airport Project At Escanaba To Total $340,000

LANSING (AP) — The Aeronautics Commission today recommended a $7.6 million aid program to Michigan airports for the fiscal year starting July 1.

If approved by the federal government and the legislature, the federal government would pay 50 per cent of the total and the state and local communities 25 per cent. The federal share would be $3.72 million, the state cost $1.19 million and the rest would come from local communities.

Two of the projects are for land purchase only — $2.5 million for the Detroit Metropolitan Airport and $20,000 for Manistee. The state does not share in land purchase projects and the federal and local units of government would split the cost 50-50.

Projects recommended with total figures: Allegan, $126,000; Alma, $406,800; Battle Creek, $103,000; Detroit City Airport, $280,000; Detroit Metropolitan Airport, $2.5 million; Willow Run Airport, $80,000; East Tawas, $88,000; Escanaba, $340,000; Flint, $653,600; Midland-Saginaw-Bay City Tri-City Airport, $817,150; Gaylord, $100,200; Houghton, $175,000; Ionia, $420,000; Ironwood, $100,000; Lansing, $400,000; Ludington, $12,000; Manistee, $20,000; Manistique, $24,000; Midland Barstow Field, $186,000; Muskegon, $109,500; Ontonagon, $90,000; Pontiac, $89,000; Port Huron, $83,500; Sault Ste. Marie, $304,600.

Grants of $20,000 for Escanaba and $1,000 for Manistee airports were approved for the current fiscal year on a state-local matching basis.

City Manager George Harvey said the project recommended by the State Aeronautics Commission at $340,000 total cost would provide a new terminal for Escanaba airport at the Southeast corner of the airport off M-35, replacing the present terminal, which has access from 18th Ave. S., beside the short north-south runway.

Harvey said that the project approved by state aeronautical planners would acquire property for new airport terminal access from M-35, provide a new road, a parking ramp for planes, a terminal building and auto parking lot.

The local sponsor cost of the project would be $130,000 to be spread over a four year period with appropriations of $30,000 a year. The federal and state governments would pay three quarters of the cost of most of the work and the land acquisition, but parking lot construction would be a local cost.

Any farm bureau group having resolutions to introduce should send them in to the county secretary, Mrs. Lillian Buscik, at Daggett immediately.

New members who joined the Bureau Monday were Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Kleiman and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Luft. The next meeting will be at the Alex Jorasz home Monday, Feb. 10.
